THE SCOLDING WIFE.

What trouble is the major one
That torments man beneath the sun,
And spoils the joys of life?
The one most dreaded here below,
Too bad to wish our dearest foe?
Ah what? a scolding wife!

When man from labor, toil and care,
Returns to enjoy his home and fire,
In winter evenings cold—
Lord! how provoking then it is,
To see a wife with woe-filled phiz,
And hear her storm and scold.

Let creditors dun, pull and haul,
And Sheriff's "Greetings" loudly call—
Or constables insult!
If I elude this worst of plagues,
By dint of stratagem or legs—
I've reason to exult.

Let me endure a life's campaign
With toils and wounds among "heaps of slain,"

And on half rations fare—
Where cannons roar and bullets fly,
Where patriots fall and heroes die,
And death and famine stare.

Let me in winter roam the street,
In rags and beg the bread I eat,
Half naked and half froze—
Or in some smoky hovel dwell—
Alone and friendless, sick or well,
To "scape this worst of woes."

Let rheumatism rack my frame,
Hard thumps and bruises make me lame,
Or smite me sore with biles—
But save me, Heaven, while I've breath,
From that more dreaded fate than death,
From—from a scolding wife!

CALCUTTA, Nov. 1, 1816.

The unusual epidemic disease still prevails in the upper provinces; there is an extraordinary mortality among the European troops. Some of the European regiments have suffered severely. On the 9th instant, H. M. 68th regiment had 300 men, and the 87th 200 sick in the Hospital, at Cawnpore; at Meerut and Allahabad, the troops experienced similar sickness, &c. Every family is suffering in the loss of some of its members. Of numerous native villages, nearly the whole population was ill at one and the same time; the banks of the river were covered at all times with the dead and dying. When the cold weather and northwest winds fairly settle, we hope and trust the sickly provinces will resume their wonted health.

We are sorry to find that many instances of the Opium sent from this country being adulterated or running short, have lately occurred.

Our last accounts from Java, state that it would probably take till August to adjust all the business connected with the transfer of the island to the Dutch.—The English flag continued to fly at Weltevreden, 1st October. A division of troops for India, was, we learn, to leave the Netherlands 27th June; their projected departure would, it was believed, preclude the possibility of the government of Java taking possession of the Moluccas before the commencement of the coming spring.

The Lord Bishop of Calcutta is daily expected here; his lordship and family arrived at Corlumbo, 12th October.

Late accounts from Madras state that the French Government intended to institute the college formerly at Pondicherry, so as to succeed, if possible, the necessity of sending youth to Europe, for education in the higher branches of literature, science, &c. We doubt whether the scheme will be found to answer the good intention. Pondicherry will be ceded to the members of the French Colonial Government very soon; the Madras Gazette has officially notified all British subjects residing in the settlement and dependencies of Pondicherry, except those on duty, to return to the British territories by the 10th inst.

From the Calcutta Gazette, Nov. 31, 1816.

For the following valuable information respecting the political posture of Arabia, we are indebted to the Hackaru:

Extract of a letter from Bushire, dated the 24th July 1816.

"The chief of Muscat has left that place with his fleet and troops on his intended expedition against the capital of the Joasmeo pirates and the rebellious districts of Bahre. The former he has left in his rear, and the first movements of the enemy in Qatif have, in the partial success which has attended them, tended to invigorate and encourage resistance. They had seized upon the patrimonial possessions of one of her most useful auxiliaries, and brought it wholly under subjection, with the exception however, of one elevated tower of a circular built, at some distance from the shore, and constantly surrounded by water.

"To this turret a few males and the whole of the females of this family retired, well supplied with provisions, water and ammunition, and by this garrison chiefly composed of females, has it been bravely and perseveringly defended for more than six weeks against an army of hostile Arabs.

"From the intrepid character of this auxiliary chieftain, who has flown to the relief of his family, and from the nature and extent of his power, there is little doubt of the success of his operations against the enemy and the consequent relief of the courageous little band of females and relations.

"The successes of the Ottoman forces in the Arabian Peninsula have led to an acknowledgment of the supremacy of the emperor of the Turks and Abdullah ben-Saoud; the chief of the Wahabee Arabs, has been compelled to guarantee the payment of a yearly tribute, by the transmission of valuable hostages to Mahomed Ali Bey, commander of the victorious army.

"The concession to these terms on the part of the Ottoman General, was dictated no less by political than physical necessity, for the sanguine high fed troops of European Turkey had suffered dreadfully from the spare and scanty diet of the Bedouins and the heat and dryness of the soil.

"Tifamch and Hejab have been ceded to the Porte, in which last province, the holy cities of Mecca and Medina have their seats. Advices, however, of the ratification of this treaty, had not yet been published.

KINGSTON, (Jam.) March 17.

Recent advices from Cumana state, that Gen. Marino, with an independent force, had taken that town on the 6th ult. after a loss of between four and five hundred men. Before the attack, Marino sent in a flag of truce, to the Royal Garrison stating that if they would surrender they should be treated as prisoners of war, and allowed four hours for an answer. Gen. Prado said the answer did not require four minutes consideration, and that they would not surrender. The attack upon receiving this reply, immediately commenced, when, after a severe contest the independent became victorious, and gained possession of the town. From seven hundred to one thousand European troops then retired into the fort, which was assaulted, and the whole of them were put to the sword. The Royal force, in shipping, consisting of nine brigs and schooners, had put into Lagaira.

The brig Correo from St. Jago de Cuba to Lagaira, was still detained by the royalists and refused to be given up to the Brazen sloop of war, capt. Sterling, which had been at Lagaira, from Barbadoes.

The schooner Fan Fan, Colford having been obliged to put into Morant Bay, sailed again for St. Jago de Cuba, the port of her destination, on the 28th ult. The Fan Fan, is a Baltimore built schooner, no head, copper bottomed, painted black, with two yellow streaks about three feet asunder, and seven painted ports on each side. She mounts two guns, with a crew of eight men, and had on board a number of female passengers.

CHARLESTON, April 10.

BLOCKADE OF CUBA.

The British schooner Friendship, captain Wilkey, arrived at this port yesterday, in 19 days from St. Jago de Cuba. The day he sailed capt. W. was boarded from the Independent privateer brig Patriot, Com. Taylor, and informed that all the ports in the Island of Cuba were under a strict state of blockade by his squadron, and requested him to report it in the United States. His force amounts to twelve or thirteen sail, among them one ship, the remainder brigs and schooners. The "om. treated capt. W. with marked politeness and respect, as is his constant practice to all nations except the Spanish. He expressed his determination of continuing the blockade as rigorously as possible, and declared that he would never be captured by any Spanish vessel while his magazine held out. The vessels of the squadron are continually cruising round the island, and intercept a great many Spanish merchantmen and slave traders, the prisoners from which are set ashore.

April 11.

East Florida.—The person who brought to this city, the report that the Province of East Florida was to be sold, persists in the assertion that said report, was very current when he left St. Augustine; we observe by yesterday's Courier, that another gentleman lately from St. Augustine, contradicts it; stating that "the late Report of Governor Kindelan" having received authority to dispose of that Province to the United States, is not to be relied on." Should we judge of this gentleman's correctness by his assertion relative to "Governor Kindelan," he would certainly be convicted of error; as it is well known that a very considerable time has elapsed since he was Governor of that Province. Since his removal, Governor Coppinger, has been Commander, and he has very recently resigned, in consequence of receiving the appointment of Colonel in the army, of this fact Governor Coppinger personally acquainted our informant. When he left St. Augustine, another Governor was daily expected.

LATEST FROM FRANCE.

The Ship Elizabeth, Samuel Hill, master in 60 days from Bordeaux for Charleston, touched at our bar yesterday, in consequence of head winds and want of provisions. The captain and one passenger came up to town last evening. The latter gentleman states that a report of a Revolution having taken place in France, is without foundation; but that, from the general discontent of the inhabitants, he had not the least doubt but that such an event would take place at no very distant period.

Grain of all kinds was very scarce

Georgetown S. C. Gaz. April 9.

Captain Hilliard and his lady, of the Ship Oneida, which was lost at sea, have arrived at London in the brig Park, Hasley, 27 days from St. Thomas. The following from the New London Gazette gives the particulars.

SIR, Permit me the undersigned, through the medium of your useful paper, publicly to return our great and sincere thanks to Captain John M. Herklot for his generous and gentlemanly treatment to us while we were on board of his ship.

We sailed from New York in the ship Oneida, Hillard, on the 19th of January for Havre de Grace, and 5 days out sprang a dangerous leak that required the greatest possible efforts to keep the ship above water, which we did for 16 days; at which time every person on board was completely exhausted; when we fell in with the schr. Mar, George W. Carr, of New-Port, bound to Surinam, in lat. 35. 20, N. lon. 62.00, W. as it had become impossible to keep the wreck any longer afloat. Captain Carr was prevailed upon to receive us all on board 24 in number; with a part of our baggage and a little water & provisions, where for two weeks we suffered the greatest distress for want of water and provisions, which Captain Carr would not sell, notwithstanding we offered 50 dollars a barrel for beef. Very fortunately on the 24th of February in latitude 19 N, long 42 W, we fell in with the Bremen Ship Dido, Captain John M. Herklot from Bremen, bound to St. Thomas's who very handsomely received all the cabin passengers, the master, chief mate, and three of the crew of the Oneida on board 14 in number. Capt. Herklot spared no pains to render our situation as comfortable and happy as it was in his power to do and owing to this fortunate circumstance of falling in with and being taken on board by him, we feel that under the direction of providence our lives have been saved.

From the N. Y. Com. Adv. April 12.
TO THE PUBLIC.

The Board of Trustees of the College of New Jersey, assembled for the first time since the riotous proceedings in the institution committed to their care, in January last; deem it a solemn duty, to communicate to the public their views of those unhappy and criminal proceedings.

At an early period of their session they appointed a committee to examine with care into the causes of the riots, and to collect and present to the board such information relative to this subject, as might conduce to a clear understanding of its real character. The committee, after a particular and impartial investigation, as far as was practicable, and of the whole affair, [an investigation in the course of which they had interviews with a number of the most respectable students of the college, as well as with the members of the faculty and others,] presented a report, from which the board feel it their duty to state, that the faculty of the college have received their approbation for the fidelity and firmness which they displayed on that trying and painful occasion. No alternative was left for them, but either to abandon their posts, or to inflict the merited sentence of dismission on the offending students; their proceedings, therefore, and also those of a competent number of the trustees convened for that purpose, in expelling such of the dismissed students as returned to the college grounds contrary to order, have received the sanction of this board.

The Board wish the public distinctly to understand, that the civil process which was commenced against a number of the offending students, who had not only violated the orders, and insulted the authority, but also injured the property of the college to a large amount, was commenced by the faculty, not on their own judgment and responsibility alone; but with the concurrence and by the advice of a committee of the Board appointed for that purpose; and also that the measure has received the sanction of the Board.

The Board, moreover, are constrained by a sense of duty both to the college and to the public, to declare their entire and unanimous conviction, that the conduct of the disorderly students, in the late riots, and especially of those who were expelled, was utterly unsupported by any just plea, or even plausible pretence; that it was marked with the most intemperate violence—the most flagrant indecency—the grossest profaneness. And they cannot but deplore the humiliating fact, that so many young men of respectable families, and of high promise, should have degraded themselves so far as justly to incur this unqualified condemnation. The Board have only to add an expression of their confident hope, that a virtuous public will unite with them, in approving the conduct of the faculty, and in reprobating a course of proceedings, so utterly subversive of all those principles on which alone decorum and order can be maintained in a seminary of learning.

Signed by the unanimous vote of Trustees.

ISAAC H. WILLIAMSON,
Governor of the state of N. Jersey, and President ex-officio of the Board of Trustees.
Princeton, N. J. April 10, 1817.

Extract of a letter, dated Princeton April 11, 1817.
The degree of Dr. of Divinity was yesterday conferred on the Rev. Robert Finley, President elect of the University of Georgia, by a unanimous vote of the trustees of the college of N. J. convened in this place.

Highly important Law Case.
Don Joseph Almeida was lately arrested on a charge of piracy under the Spanish treaty, in virtue of a warrant issued by a justice of the peace for the State of Maryland, under the act of Congress of 1789. A Habeas Corpus was granted by Judge Bland made returnable before Baltimore County Court.

The case was argued before Judges Bland & Hanson, and it was urged, among other objections on the part of the prisoner, that Congress had no power under the constitution of the United States to invest any Judge or Justice of the peace with any Judicial authority which is confined by the constitution to the Supreme Court, and such inferior tribunals as Congress shall from time to time ordain. Both the Judges concurred in supporting this objection, and gave separate and elaborate opinions, discharging the prisoner, among other reasons for defect in the authority of the Magistrate on whose warrant the arrest was made.

By the above opinion it is in effect declared, that no state judge or justice of the peace has power to arrest or commit any person for a violation of the laws of the U. S. States.

The reasoning of the Judges we understand, appeared to be satisfactory to the gentlemen of the Bar, and we should be glad if the opinions of the judges could be published, in order that the grounds of the decisions may be publicly known, that Congress may without delay apply the proper remedy.

A circumstance has happened in this town, which we believe cannot find a counterpart in the civilized world. A man, calling himself Randall Francis Murray, came to Wilmington about 8 months since, under apparent pecuniary embarrassments, and was received by the community with that open confidence and hospitality, so common and so natural amongst the citizens of the south. He was a man of much literary information, and by his dialect, and by his own account, believed to be a Scotchman; although he was capable of assuming almost any character, as the event will shew. He first established himself in the good opinion of one of the most respectable commercial houses in this place by his assiduity and attention to business, and became, we understand, the first agent of the counting room. Meantime, a general approbation came from every quarter, of the excellent talents of the sojourner, and all endeavoured to bring comfort to the "EXILE"—He became the inmate of a family, (the name of which delicacy forbids us to mention) of the first standing, and of acknowledged piety and honor. A confiding father gave a daughter to his arms! a daughter whose age did not exceed sixteen, and on whom her anxious parents had bestowed an education commensurate to her rank in life, and which her natural innocence and virtue deserved. He had been married about 4 weeks, when, after forging the names of those who had first given him sustenance, and selling a false check, to the man who had given him his child, he clandestinely departed, leaving despair and grief in the mansion where he met hospitality and love, and astonishment and hatred in circles where he found respect and friendship. The crimes of which he has been guilty, as concerns the pecuniary affairs of individuals, are virtues when compared with the deadly blow he has given to domestic happiness and social intercourse. He has extended the band of friendship, but friendship startles at the recollection of him. The blooming hopes of beauty will shrivel at the mention of his name, and parental affection will be tortured with a jealousy that will keep the virtuous and sincere assunder. To form a just idea of the conduct of MURRAY, reason must resign herself to imagination, and search for all that is base and infamous—language cannot speak of him as he is.

ALEXANDRIA: FRIDAY, APRIL 18, 1817.

TORY.

Among the abuses which daily present themselves, I reckon the abuse of words; perhaps I should be more correct in saying the misuse—for I mean the application of them in a sense different from their original universally acknowledged signification, or in a sense which may convey different ideas to different persons, at different places and in different countries. By licences of this kind, languages become obsolete, and our own Chaucer and Spenser, two of our noblest poets, are now unintelligible, but to the more profound class of readers. Few men would believe that the word knave was once an appellation of honor, and among our good ancestors, meant a squire, which we now call esquire—a word which I am sorry to observe, has now gradually been sunk by misapplication, almost as low as knave itself. And here, by the way, having mentioned this abuse of words, I cannot refrain from telling you, that by reading some of our advertisements in the public prints, I am often reminded of an old crabbed Counsellor in Dublin, who, in the court of Kings Bench, where a new made Lord sat on the Bench, publicly declared, that he would not humiliate his wheelbarrow with a Coronet, or his footman with the addition of Esquire. Indeed when I consider the rapid descent of titles, or the aristocratic self-elevation of our citizens, I have no doubt that we shall soon hear of squire carmen and squire hod-carriers.

"Boots and shoes cleaned down in this cellar, by Powsey Coffee, Esquire," will be a pleasant spectacle. To an historian in other parts of the world, what idea, I should be glad to hear, will our word Tory convey. I remember when, like the word papist in Ireland, it imputed every thing that was base, mean, and abominable to one part of society; and to the other, every thing that was honorable, noble, sacred and deserving of veneration. Let us hear what was said upon the subject by one of the ablest statesmen and greatest orators of the last century. Lord Belhaven, in his immortal speech against the Union in the house of Peers of Scotland, gave the following picture of the whigs and tories.

It is of importance to enquire concerning the nature of the parties into which we are divided, whigs and tories; names as obscure, my Lords, as Guelphs & Ghiblins, and each of a different description in the two Kingdoms; a whig in England is an heterogeneous creature; in Scotland he is all of a piece; a tory in England is a statesman, and often a placeman; in Scotland he is quite otherwise; he is there, an anti-courtier.

A whig in England is like Nebuchadnezzar's image, made of different metals, different principles, and different designs; the whigs, take them altogether, are like a piece of fine mixed druggery, of various threads, some fine and some coarse, but altogether making a comely appearance. The tories are like a piece of faithful made English cloth, the true staple of the nation, all of a thread; yet if we look narrowly into it, and place it in different lights, we shall perceive a diversity of color.

"The tories are sometimes like the moon at the full, as appeared in the affair of occasional conformity; at other times they seem under a cloud, eclipsed as it were by a greater body; this was evident in the case in the meditated project of calling over the Princess Sophia; this we may however clearly see, their designs are to shoot the whigs with their own bow.

"The whigs in Scotland are the genuine true blue Presbyterians, who without considering time, interest or expediency, will venture all for the kirk; but something less for the state; to describe a Scotch tory is more difficult.

"Of old, when I knew them first, a tory was an honest hearted companionable fellow, who, as long as he was protected in his person and property, was not very anxious by what hands the government was administered; but since divinity has become the fashion, and that Christianity and salvation depend upon episcopal ordination, I profess I know not what to make of the tories.

My lords, if these divisions are not prevented by her majesty's royal edicts, the whole Island will be split in two; while we are under the afflictive hand of Providence, all dissension should cease; I hope we may yet arrive at prosperity and happiness; and if the present proposal for a union were ten times worse than it is, I will not despair, if we do but hold together, and bury old animosities; I desire that an Agape, a feast of love, may take place, where every man setting down, may forgive each one his neighbor and eat his meat with gladness!!

New-York, April 14.

LATE FROM THE SOUTH SEAS.

Capt. Faunting, of the ship Yester, who arrived at this port yesterday, informs, that while on his voyage in the Pacific Ocean, having his crew much affected with the scurvy, was obliged to put into the port of Coquimbo for refreshments. On Capt. F. landing he and his boat's crew were made prisoners. Capt. F. was immediately marched to prison, and confined in a place 10 by 5 1-2 feet square, with a hole 8 by 10 inches, called a window, to admit the air, and this nearly choked up with massy bars of iron, and infested with vermin. The ship was taken possession of by an armed force, his sails, powder and arms taken on shore, and after a month's detention, during which time the crew were robbed even of their wearing apparel and treated in the most unfeeling and cruel manner, the ship was released by an order from the captain General of Chili to the Governor of Coquimbo, and directed to put to sea, and forbidden to approach again within ten leagues of the coast.

On regaining his liberty, Capt. F. entered into correspondence with the governor, remonstrating, in a spirited manner, against the treatment he had received, and demanded to know the cause why a citizen of the U. S. who had put into his port for succor, should have been thus abused.

The Governor finally invited him to conference, and apologized for his acts by saying that they had strong suspicions that we Americans were disposed to assist their present oppressors of the present government of Chili. This (and the other false subtleties) the governor stated, obliged them to treat us in this manner.

Capt. F. saw at Coquimbo, whale boats and dry-works, which, he was informed by one of his guard, belonged to an American whaling vessel which had been condemned there.

Mr. Havel the consul general of the United States, at St. Jago, the capital, was arrested by the Governor of Chili, and sent as a state prisoner to the Island of Juan Fernandez, Captain F. afterwards saw and conversed with Captain Smith, of the Albatross, and Captain Guysler, of the schooner Leda, both of whom had been made prisoners on the Coast of Mexico, and the latter after three months detention, being robbed of his provisions, was ordered off. Captain Smith left his ship lying off and on at the mouth of the harbor, and entered it with his boat, but with his boat's crew was immediately made prisoners, and directed to write to the officer on board the ship to bring her in. Capt. S. suspected there was no one present who could read English, wrote the note in which he informed the mate of his situation, directed him to send a shift of clothes in a small trunk, and put to sea, and remain with the ship at a certain Island. The mate acted accordingly. Captain Smith remained a prisoner several weeks, and was on his way to join his ship when Capt. F. saw him.

The friends of the late Mrs. Alice Riggs, of Georgetown, are invited to attend her funeral at 5 o'clock this afternoon, from the dwelling of Capt. James Lawrason, S. Jasp-st. April 18.
